SPRECKELS FAMILY ROW. The Sugar King Confesses Judgment

in His Son's Suit for Slander.

SAN FRANCISCO, May 18.-Claus Spreckels, the sugar king, accompanied by his wife and daughter, left New York last night on their way to Europe. Before departing Spreckels confessed judgment on $300 damages. The reason given for this action is that Spreckels senior received information that his son would seek to prevent his departure for Europe. Accordingly, the loyal sons-John D. and A. B. Spreckels-in order to save their father further annoyance, instructed the attorneys in the case to confess judgment and end the matter for the present. But Claus Spreckels will not admit that he has con-fessed judgment in a moral sense, so he has instructed his attorneys to begin suit for an accounting against C. A. Spreckels to compel him to account for all the money he handled for his father. The attorneys have also been ordered to bring suit against Rudolph Spreckels, who has sided with his brother, in the quarrel with their father, to recover $500,000 worth of stock of the Palahau Plantation Company, which Rudolph claims his father gave him in 1893, and from which he is now drawing $5,000 a month dividends, which, it is alleged, he is using to supply the sinews of war against his parent.

The trouble in the Spreckels family commenced over a year ago, when C. A. Spreckels sued his father to recover stock the Hawaiian Commercial Company. This suit was compromised, and then Rudolph followed with a suit to prevent the transfer of $700,000 worth of stock held by Claus Spreckels as security to the Nevada Bank. Following this came the suit against the Oceanic Starch Company, instituted by C. A. Spreckels, who alleged that he was being frozen out. Finally C. A. Spreckels sued his father for slander, on account of a newspaper interview in which the father said his son had wasted his money and would soon be bankrupt.

A "TERROR" IN A COURT ROOM.

Father of a Wronged Girl Attempts to Kill Two Men with a Dirk.

CINCINNATI, May 18.-There was a panic in the Criminal Court at Covington, Ky., to-day. The case of Emma Slaughter, who asks $25,000 damages from Dr. Jarvis Mc-Collum, was being heard. While Emma was testifying her father, Henry Slaughter, was seen drawing a large dirk. The sheriff, jailer and others grabbed him before he could reach Dr. McCollum. This caused great excitement in the court room. Afterward Henry Slaughter was on the stand, and the attorney for the defense asked the witness whether he had ever been in the penitentiary. Without answering Slaughter pulled out another dirk and jumped towards the attorney. He was again jumped towards the attorney. He was again held back, but several people were hurt in the panic which followed, none seriously. It was necessary to adjourn court in order to get rid of the crowd. In the afternoon none but attorneys and witnesses were admitted

SECOND DAY'S DEBATE ON THE SEM-INARY CONTROL QUESTION.

Speeches by Rev. Dr. Mckinney, President White, of Lane, and Thomas MacDougal, of Cincinnati.

ASSEMBLY EVENLY DIVIDED

OPPOSITION DEVELOPING AGAINST THE REPORT.

Compromise Scheme That Promises to Have Good Support-Action of Other Religious Conventions.

PITTSBURG, May 18 .- Assembly control of the seminaries has possession of the Presbyterian General Assembly even if the assembly has not the possession of the seminaries, which it desires. At the close of the morning session adjournment was taken till Monday morning and at that time the debate of the proposed plan of gathering in the seminaries into a close and guarded field will be resumed. The net result thus far attained has been to divide the assembly into two clearly marked parties, and it is judged that the line of cleavage is near the numerical center of the body. It seems probable that the vote of 4 to 1, that was recorded last year, will be wiped out in large part and the disproportion greatly reduced. The committee which is urging the adoption of the plan providing for closer relations between the assembly and the seminaries saw itself compelled, by the strength of the opposition which has developed, to import Thomas MacDougal, of Cincinnati, a member of the committee, to present the legal side of the case. This he did in a speech of an hour and a quarter, but he labored under a heavy handicap on account of a pamphlet which he recently published attacking the integrity and faithfulness of the board of home and foreign missions in New York for using funds given for missionary purposes in the erection of a large building on Fifth avenue. The peroration of his speech was devoted to removing prejudices created by his pamphlet and the degree of his success will only be shown by the final vote.

There is a plan on foot to secure the adoption of an alternative report replacing that of the committee. It is proposed to recommend that in view of the answers made by the directories of the existing seminaries, setting forth their unwillingness to make any charter changes, these seminaries be let alone and that the restrictions that have been devised by the committee be applied only to institutions that may hereafter be chartered. This plan will have strong backing and will meet with good support. Those who have had experience of previous assemblies, however, entertain some doubts of its adoption, but it is certain that the support which it will get will astonish the conservative forces.

The assembly has not yet learned the value of time, and, instead of holding an afternoon session to-day, adjournment was taken till Monday. It is safe to say that the case will be different a week hence. The rush of business will startle those who are unaccustomed to the closing scenes of assemblies and legislatures. M'DOUGAL PREJUDICES HIS CASE.

In view of the resolutions adopted yesterday concerning Sabbath observance, the suggestion of Mr. MacDougal that the commissioners spend their spare time on Sunday in reading and pondering the report of his committee was quite unfortunate, and it served to prejudice his case still further in the eyes of some of the commissioners. Union Seminary, in New York, is the bete noir of the conservative elements in this assembly. This was shown in the morning session, when it was referred to as the cause and occasion of all this disturbance Dr. Briggs was scarcely mentioned, and the odium which attached to him has been ransferred to the seminary directors in New York. One of the speakers declared that when they repudiated their agreement with the assembly they took out valuable endowments, which belonged propto the church as such. the strong objections to the re control is that it involves recourse to the civil court for the settlement of ecclesias-tical differences. The answer to this, made the suit for slander brought against him by a lawyer like Mr. MacDougal, was reby his son, C. A. Spreckels, who asked garded by some as a sort of special pleading and his references to creatures of Caesar appealing to Caesar failed to carry Thus far nothing has been heard of the plans for deposing Dr. Briggs, which were aid to be under serious consideration. But the assembly is young yet and those who were active in the condemnation two years ago are now absent from the scene. may be that these plans are now simply in abeyance to be sprung on the assemly at a latter date. The arrangements for the celebration of the quarter century anniversary of the two branches of the church are noted below. They point to an occurrence of considerable importance, but there are not wanting men who declare that that reunion was a mistake. Nevertheless the occasion promises to be one of no small brilliancy and interest.

ing rapidly filled after the devotional servassembly control of theological seminaries connected with the denomination. The popular interest in the subject appeared to have waned, if the vacant seats in the gal-lery was any indication. The first quarter of an hour was given to miscellaneous business, and the floor was again accorded to Dr. McKinney, whose speech last night was interrupted by adjournment. His argument concerned the objection that the plan proposed will act as a barrier to union with the Southern Presbyterian Church, and the speaker claimed that that church had taken more extreme action than that now under consideration. It was also claimed that the plan was fully in accord with the polity and policy of the Presbyterian Church, and those who object to recourse to the civil courts by ecclesiastical bodies were charcourts by ecclesiastical bodies were characterized as "superspiritual advocates." The speaker proceeded to consider the attitude of the seminaries, and regretted their unwillingness or indisposition to do what the last assembly suggested and urged by an overwhelming vote. He closed with a pleafor a large majority in favor of the committee recommendation. PRESIDENT WHITE'S ADDRESS.

The Hon. E. E. White, of Columbus, the new president of the board of directors of Lane Seminary, was granted the floor, but before he began an attempt was made to limit the time of debate. It was briefly discussed, but overwhelmingly defeated. The moderator announced plenty of time, no favor and a clear field. Judge White began in a very cool and deliberate way to set forth the position of the parties on the question. He asked that the assembly come of affairs. It was urged that the last assembly had sent down overtures to the seminary directories, and that the answers that have come back should be regarded as final and conclusive, and that they should be treated with respect. On the contrary, the committee has asked the assembly to accept its judgment and dictum in place of the mature judgment of the directors of the seminaries, under advice of counsel and those thoroughly acquainted with the facts. This was called "a large contract."

After reviewing the position of the seminaries and showing that its plan is impracticable in regard to some of them, Judge White urged that the matter be dropped. He asked what the cause of the distrust in the church has been, and a voice from the audience called out "Union seminary." "Yes," replied the speaker, "and because Union did it, therefore Princeton to a clear understanding of the condition must give bonds, but for this reason dis-credit should not be thrown on the other seminary boards."

When mention was made of the reports commissioner jumped to his feet and made a point of order against such mention. The moderator refused to rule on the question, but requested the speaker to exercise care in the line of his discourse. The remainder of Dr. White's address had reference to the history of Lane Seminary, showing that its original endowments had been made on a liberal basis and charter, and stating that there have been changes in the constitution of Ohio which make alterations of the seminary charter impossible without affecting all the educational institufions of the State. Strong objection was made to the statement of Dr. Young, made yesterday, that no seminary is a Presbyterian institution which cannot make the changes proposed by the committee. Such statement was characterized as a new test of loyalty which has been at no time authorized by the church. Judge White spoke for an hour and a quarter.

M'DOUGALL'S ADDRESS. After a brief introduction by Dr. S. A. Mutchmore, who replaced Dr. Young as chairman of the committee, Mr. Thomas MacDougal, of Cincinnati, was introduced as a member of the committee, advocating the recommendations of the committee's report. He addressed himself would affect the title to trust funds and that seminaries which cannot make the changes proposed are undenominational and non-Presbyterian. Answering the question committee could be adopted by the seminaries, he recited the case of Omaha Seminary, which had put them into its articles of incorporation. He asserted that the funds of Union Seminary, in New York, are held under a charter which is as free from the control of the courts of the Pres-byterian Church as the Standard Oil Company is, and that any type of theology can be taught there which is not repugnant to the laws of the State of New York. The seminaries were said to be civil corporations, and therefore creatures of Caesar, which may justly be brought before Caesar for judgment. The General Assembly is not a legal entity and cannot have any standthe right'is given by the seminaries through changes in their charters. The time of the session was extended fifteen minutes to allow Mr. MacDougal to finish his remarks, and at the close the floor was given to Dr. W. O. Thompson, president of Miami University at Oxford, O. Just at the time of adjournment a telegram of greeting was read from the Presbyterian theological students of the Moody

School in Chicago, and it was referred to Notice was given that the twenty-fifth anniversary of the reunion of the old and new school branches of the Presbyterian Church will be celebrated in the Third Church, where the assembly is meeting, on Thurs-day evening, May 23. Dr. Francis L. Pat-ton, president of Princeton College, will speak on the fundamental doctrines of the Presbyterian Church; Dr. Henry M. Booth president of Auburn Seminary, brother of the moderator, will speak on the influence of the Presbyterian Church upon other denominations, and Dr. William H. Roberts, stated clerk of the assembly, will speak of the growth and future of the united

UNITED PRESBYTERIANS. Control of Seminaries to Be Considered by the General Assembly.

PITTSBURG, Pa., May 18 .- Next Wednesday, the 22d inst., the General Assembly of the United Presbyterian Church will meet in this city. About three hundred dele gates are expected, and the assembly will last probably ten days. The question of seminary control, which is now racking the brains of the learned brethren of the Presbyterian Church, will also engross the attention of the United Presbyterians for the greater part of the time, but not much trouble is anticipated, as the different synods of the church have all given their votes in favor of more complete control of the seminaries by the General Assembly and all this body will have to do is to hear the report of the committee and adopt it as presented, unless some particularly obnoxious clause has found its way into the report which will have to be expurgated. Another question to be considered is that of retrenchment or advance by the church. There are two questions to be taken into demands of the church, and second, the ability of the church to meet them. The fight for moderator goes on with un-abated energy, but the indications now are that Rev. J. B. McMichael will win. The doctor is one of the most prominent men in the church, being president of the Monmouth College, which is situated at Mon-mouth, Ill. His most dangerous opponent is Dr. Moorehead, of the Theological Seminary of Xenia, O. The far Western men also have a candidate in the person of Dr. McCormick, of San Francisco, who is also an able man and prominent in the church to-day.

SOUTHERN PRESBYTERIANS.

The Question of Organic Union-Number of Sunday Schools. DALLAS, Tex., May 18.-The third day's session of the Southern Presbyterian General Assembly was consumed by reading overtures on various subjects, the question of organic union being the question of comment. The committee charged to inquire into Sabbath school cause reported that in 1894 there were 2,713 Presbyterian churches in the South; number not represented by a Sabbath school, 900; church membership, the 7,387 churches in the North only 104 are represented as having no Sunday school. The report calls attention to the fact that there are probably 3,000,000 children and young people covered by the territory of the assembly not in any Protestant Sabbath school. Graded lessons for Sunday schools are suggested and the appointment of a committee in connection with the secretary of publication to prepare a system of graded lessons for use in the Presbyterian Sabbath schools is recommended Rev. Dr. B. A. Alton, of Kentucky, says his purpose in making a motion Thursday that a special committee be placed in charge of all matters and overtures pertaining to the relations of this assembly to the Northern assembly was not intended to reopen the question of organic union at hat time. He said last night: "No decision of anybody can take the place or the spirit of love. I do desire our assembly to say to the Northern brethren just what they said last year to the associated Reformed Presbyterian churches; that it affirms its cordial desire for closer relations with them. If there be only the necessary co-operation in pressing forward the work exercises of the General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, this morning, were in charge of Rev. Harry G. Teagarden, of Pennsylvania. Communications were read, one of them referring to the woman preacher question, in which Mrs. L. M. Woosley, the only woman preacher in the denomination, is involved. Rev. Dr. W. J. Darby read the report of the board of ministerial relief. Dr. Darby told of the handsome Thornton Home, at Evansville, Ind., where many of the beneficiaries lived. Ind., where many of the beneficiaries fived. Commendatory speeches were made by various delegates. The number of families assisted by the board during the year was ninety-six, of which forty-four are ministers and fifty-two are ministers' widows. Receipts for the year were $16,922.73. The past year has been the most prosperous in the history of the board, which was organized fourteen years are ganized fourteen years ago.

At the afternoon session the report of the board of publication was presented by Hon. H. H. Buquox, of Erin, Tenn. The report sets forth the fact that there not only exists the burden of a large debt, but that $12,500 of the short term bonds will mature on Oct. 1, 1895. A pleasing incident of the afternoon session was the introduction to the assembly of the local pastors of the several churches, including the Jewish rabbi, Rev. Dr. J. Weshsler, the latter of whom addressed the assembly in a brief, but appropriate manner. Miss Linna A. Holt, of Eugene City, Ore., conveyed to the body the greetings of the churches in her State. ganized fourteen years ago.

General Harrison's Fee Reported to Be $19,000-Arrests in the Parker City Dynamite Case.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

RICHMOND, Ind., May 18 .- The Morrislaw office of Burchenal & Rupe, After the legacies and court charges are paid out of the whole estate, the estate is to be divided equally, the plaintiffs being charged with the $104,000 advanced to Robert Morrisson and the defendants being charged with $28,000 already received by . them. Each side pays its own attorneys'

The plaintiffs first received a proposition which they did not approve, and they made a counter proposition, which is practically the basis agreed upon. The bequests to St. Stephen's Hospital and the Margaret Smith Home for Aged Women are to be paid, the amount being $5,000 for each. The other small bequests, one being $50 a month to Mrs. Irwin during her lifetime, are also to be paid. The estate has increased during the period of litigation, owing to interest to over $700,000, and, even allowing that the total expenses should reach $100,000, there would still be a large sum left to each side There has not been the bitterness of feeling between the opposing litigants, it is said, that might be supposed, and they preserve cordial relations. The verdict relieves Mrs. Hibberd of any charge that she unduly influenced her father. The jury stood ten to two in favor of the plaintiffs on the matter of unsoundness of mind and seven to five against the charge of undue influence. Finally one juror went to the plaintiff on unsoundness, making it stand eleven to one on this point. Then it was that the five jurors went over to the seven on the charge of undue influence. It is gratifying to Mrs. Hibberd to be vindicated of the charge of undue influence. A local lawyer says General Harrison's

PRESIDENT JOHN'S METHOD. Trustee Newkirk Talks of DePauw University Affairs.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal. CONNERSVILLE, Ind., May 18.-In an interview Mr. William Newkirk, one of the trustees of DePauw University, to-day stated a few facts regarding the resignation of President John that have not yet been made public. He says the only trouble with Dr. John's policy was that it was expensive. In former times, when, at the end of a year a deficit was found in the treasury, Mr. DePauw went down into his pocket to make it good. Since his death there has not been this stronghold to fall back upon. Dr. John upholds the system of new education that Harvard and other great institutions of learning have adopted. and this virtually implies a great increase in current expenses over the old method. The text-book, the big recital room and the lecture hall fell into disuse. The student was expected to go into the labora-tory and the library and practically demonstrate what he formerly acquired only in theory. Many more chairs were created and it was the endeavor to make the work "individual education." The method accomplished great results, but also, great expense accounts. Over $100,000 of the income was locked up and the university was compelled to draw each year on its endow-ment fund. Finally this necessitated a meeting at which Dr. John was the person to suggest that some one be placed in charge of the finances. This led to Dr. Sims's nomination, but a discussion arising over the authority and duties of each, the outcome was the president's resignation. A few members thought that the chanceller should be the most important functionary of the institution, following the example of Columbia College, and also that steps be
